BY FREDERIC J. HASKIN

SALEM, Mass., Jan. 24.—This city has the distinction of being the only one among the 400 which have adopted commission government, to revert to the old method. The reform had a stormy life of three years, ending in failure.

For it cannot be denied that commission government has failed in Salem. It failed in no other way, at least it failed to convince a majority of the people that it was an improvement over the old system. Inasmuch as commission government has seemed good to the people of several hundred other cities, it follows that there must be something peculiar in the Salem situation to account for its unfavorable reception here.

Salem is now a thriving manufacturing town of 50,000. It is proud of its prosperity, but also of the fact that it was founded in 1626.
Fully alive to the value of its industries, it is also conscious that its story is almost an epitome of the nation's history; that it still contains the house where one of the witch judges lived in 1792; and the first Congregational church to be established in America. In a word Salem is rich in tradition; its ways are fixed by the habit and custom of centuries. In such a place, anything which has the sanction of long usage is sure to die hard, and any reform is sure to hit a rocky trail.

It was tremendously encouraging to commission government boosters when Salem woke up and adopted the new method of city management three years ago.

"We've broken into a good-sized town in New England," they said.
"Those folks aren't so slow as we thought they were."

Of course, they are not as slow as the west thinks them, but neither are they as quick to accept a new idea as the westerners. Salem adopted commission government, but it did not forget its hundred and one traditions. It accepted the change with a reservation. "Maybe it's a good thing," we'll try it and see, but we're not sure, and if it isn't all that claimed for it, we'll go back to the old form that we know and understand." That was about the attitude of the average Salemite.

Fire Average Opportunity

Salem was never very enthusiastic about commission government, and the opponents of the change never

HUNT FOR VILLA KEEPS CARRANZA CHIEF BUSY

General Jacinto Trevino (standing) and General Carranza.

General Jacinto Trevino is Carranza's military chief of the northern Mexican states. When Villa's men killed seventeen Americans, presumably on Villa's order, Carranza told Trevino to get busy and capture the bandit chief. This Trevino has been trying to do. Hunting Villa and putting down revolts in northern Mexico is keeping him very busy.

GERMAN AEROPLANES
IN RAID NEAR LONDON NEW MACHINES USED?

LONDON PRESS SEES
RENEWAL OF RAIDS
BY THE AIR ROUTE

Experts Believe New Fokker Aeroplane Will Be Used in Further Attacks

BERLIN, via Wireless to Say-ville, Jan. 24.—German naval aeroplanes bombed the station at Dover, England, the barracks and the docks early Sunday, the admiralty announced today.

Dover is a city of about 45-000, sixty-six miles east, southeast of London and in the county of Kent. The German admiralty statement apparently casts doubt upon the report and London may have been attacked by the raiding aeroplanes on the visit early Sunday morning. It is possible, however, that the second raid which occurred Sunday noon, was made over London.

Dover is a great shipping town, particularly for trade between France and England and many vessels generally lie at its two spacious docks.

LONDON, Jan. 24.—German aeroplanes made two raids on the Kentish coast yesterday, killing one person and injuring six. The first raid occurred at one o'clock in the morning and the second was made at noon. It is considered certain the new Fokkers were used.

A renewal of German aerial attacks on London, probably by squadrons of German Fokkers, the Uhlans of the air, was predicted by the London press today, in commenting on the raids.

Aeronautics experts declared that aeroplanes attacks would supplant Zeppelin visits until the weather is more favorable for voyages by the sky dreadnoughts. They called upon the government to make better preparations to defend London against the giant Fokker battle planes.

Censor Attacked

The Times assailed the censor for forbidding publication of the exact localities attacked yesterday. The Times declared that both raids were witnessed by "large numbers of people," and that the German aviators certainly knew exactly where they were. Questioning the military advantage of suppressing such information the Times declared:

"There were two raids yesterday, one delivered in bright moonlight and the other at high noon. They were witnessed by large numbers of people, who know exactly where it took place. The enemy airmen were certainly under no illusions as to their whereabouts. Berlin is no doubt informed by this time, and in a day or two, if the censor permits, we
or two, if the censor permits, we

KING NICHOLAS' REMNANTS TRY TO ESCAPE TO CORFU

Two Seaports Fall and the Austrians Move to Cut Off Escape to the Adriatic

CORFU WOULD BE HAVEN

Montenegrins Would Be Taken to Island with Serbs Should They Reach Coast

ROME, Jan. 24.—The remnants of the Montenegrin army are today in grave danger of capture. Austrian troops have occupied the Montenegrin seaports of Dulcigno and Antivari and are moving eastward to cut off the Montenegrins' retreat to the Adriatic from Scutari. The situation of General Martinovitch's forces is most critical.

If the Montenegrins escape the Austrian net and reach the Adriatic they will be transported to the island of Corfu. As rapidly as possible the Serbs in Albania are being loaded upon troop ships for Corfu. Within another fortnight only Italian expeditionary forces in Albania will dispute possession of the eastern Adriatic coast with the Austrians.

Montenegrin government officials, who arrived here today from Brindisi, said the complete evacuation of their little country by Montenegrin troops had been planned before they sailed. The Montenegrins were to fall back across the Albanian border upon Scutari, being joined there by a few thousand Serbs and Albanian irregulars under Essad Pasha. They planned a last stand at Scutari, hoping to be able to retreat to transports on the Adriatic in event of their defeat.

The Montenegrin officials confirmed reports that King Nicholas arranged an armistice with the Austrian invaders as a ruse to gain time for the retreat of his army.

They expressed fear that the Austrians will wreak terrible vengeance upon Montenegrin civilians when they learn of the deception.

DEATH OVERTAKES
CATHOLIC SEXTON

Man for Thirty-three Years in Charge of Cemetery Dies Early Sunday Morning

Erhard Reisinger, familiar to thousands of La Crosse people as the sexton of the Catholic cemetery, passed away at his home beside the burial ground early Sunday morning.
Mr. Reisinger was 68 years old. He had been caretaker of the Catholic cemetery for thirty-three years before his death.

Mr. Reisinger was a native of Bavaria. He came to this country in 1868, and was placed in charge of the Catholic cemetery soon after his arrival in La Crosse.

Asthma, with which Mr. Reisinger was afflicted for many years, caused his death. He succumbed at 5 o'clock yesterday morning.

A monument of stones, gathered and reared by his own hands, marks the lot in which the aged sexton will be buried following the funeral Wednesday morning.

His widow, Mrs. Barbara Reisinger, and eight children mourn his departure. Three sons, Joseph, John and Peter, are still residents of this city. One son, Michael, lives in Sparta, and another, Erhard, is a resident of St. Paul. But one of Mr. Reisinger's three daughters is a resident of the city, Sister Philipp of St. Rose convent. Two other daughters, Mrs.
Theresa De Lacy and Mrs. W. D.
Kaiser, live in Minneapolis and St.
Paul respectively.

The funeral of the late sexton will be held Wednesday morning at 9 o'clock from St. Joseph's cathedral.

PRESIDENT AND SENATE APPEAL TO LA CROSSE TO HELP JEWISH WAR VICTIMS

In a proclamation to the people of the United States President Wilson has called upon citizens to aid suffering Jews in the European war zones, and has set aside Thursday, January 27, as the day upon which this worthy effort shall culminate.

The committee has requested that La Crosse do its share, and those moved by the appeal are requested to mail or leave contributions with any bank in the city, or with A.
Hirshheimer of M. Goldish.

The situation is unique in that this is the first time a public appeal for financial aid has been made in behalf of the Jewish people, and it is worthy of note that it does not, nor could it come from the Jews themselves, but is issued by the president to all creeds and nationalities.

Two facts stand out as emphasizing the worthiness of this appeal, which is made necessary by circumstances for which the Jews are in no way responsible.

(1.) The Jews of La Crosse, and of the nation, have been liberal contributors to all the funds raised for war sufferers of other nationalities, hence reciprocity and justice urge that they in turn be aided.

(2.) The Jews have silently and courageously borne the great burden of war aid for their people in silence. From La Crosse alone contributions ranging from 25 cents to $5, totaling $50 per month, have been going forward monthly for the past fifteen months. In an addition, an about equal sum has been raised in La Crosse monthly by assessments levied on members by the Brothers of Abraham. These funds do not include private payments by La Crosse Jews to relatives among the war sufferers, another substantial sum.

Thus it will be seen that the little group of Jews in La Crosse have been, to the limit of their capacity,

Wilson's Proclamation

"The Jewish Relief Day" was proposed by the United States senate, and the plan and the president's proclamation have the senate's unanimous endorsement.

The president's proclamation recites the resolution, which says that nine million Jews are in the warring countries, that the great majority of them are destitute of food, shelter, and clothing, and that millions of them have been driven from their homes, and continues:

"And whereas, I feel confident that the people of the United States will be moved to aid the war-stricken people of a race which has given to the United States so many worthy citizens.

"Now, therefore, I, Woodrow Wilson, president of the United States, in compliance with the suggestion of the senate thereof, do appoint and proclaim Jan. 27, 1916, as a day upon which the people of the United States may make such contributions as they feel disposed for the aid of the stricken Jewish people.

"Contributions may be addressed to the American Red Cross, Washington, D. C., which will care for their proper distribution."

quietly living up to their reputation of taking care of their own people, and even with this great burden upon them have found means to help other suffering peoples afflicted by the war. Therefore the TRIB-UNE adds its voice to the appeal of the president of the United States, to all creeds and nationalities, for aid to these innocent sufferers.

Tom Williams -of Brown-

Which Estimates Run
Near 100,000 Pounds

A crew of workmen is today loading cars near Brownsville the largest haul of buffalo and carp that has been netted in this district in years.
Estimates of the catch run all the way from 40,000 to 100,000 pounds, experts who have seen the fish inclining to the more conservative statement. The haul is worth at least $2,500 to Thomas Williams of Brownsville, who made the catch.

The big haul was made Thursday in the slough on which is situated the E. T. Mueller farm, between Brownsville and La Crosse. The fish were caught in a single draw of the seine. The catch is considered the more remarkable that the seine was only a little over 700 feet long.

The exact size of the catch will not be known for several days, as the larger part of the fish is still under the ice, waiting to be packed. The fish are packed in boxes of 155 pounds each. Two cars are on the siding to be filled with the fish, and more may be required, if the catch runs larger than the estimates.

The haul was purchased by the

FEELING AGAINST AMERICANS FANNED BY THE EXECUTION

Countryman Gives Prisoners Mercy Shot After Rifle Bullets Fail

EL PASO, Texas, Jan. 24.—Bernardino and Frederico Duran were executed at daylight yesterday for the murder of Bert S. Okers, an American cattleman. Ill-feeling against Americans in Mexico was increased by the execution of two Juarez Mexicans for the murder of one American. The men who died with a curse on their lips for Americans, had many friends in Juarez and reprisals are feared today.

Their execution by a firing squad was one of the most gruesome incidents of the Mexican trouble seen near El Paso.

The captain of the firing squad who had embraced them a moment before the execution put his revolver to their heads and gave each of the brothers the "mercy shot," the rifle-men's bullets having failed to bring instant death.

About fifty Americans including several women witnessed the execution and heard the Durans hurl vile caths at the Americans.

The execution took place in the Juarez cemetery, Sunday at 5 a. m., the fashionable hour for such parties in Mexico.

The two corpses were publicly exhibited all Sunday in Juarez.

Frederico, the elder Duran, died protesting his brother's innocence and declaring against the forfeiting of two Mexican lives for one American.

American officials feared today that the two alleged cattle thieves will become martyrs to Mexican thieves.

"We are dying for the cause of Mexico against Americans," shouted Frederico just before the firing squad carried out the Carranza orders.

Villa Disclaims Massacre

A disclaimer by Francisco Villa of the murder of 18 Americans at Santa Ysabel, Jan. 10, created a local sensation here.

Villa said:

"I took no part in the massacres and was ignorant of it until afterward. It was a plot of the Carranzaistas to bring me into more disfavor with the United States. In order to show my innocence in this crime, I declare myself personally to undertake the punishment of those responsible. Whether they have been supporters of my cause or not, I will punish them."

AMERICAN CODES NOT MYSTERIES TO EUROPEAN NATIONS

Colonel House Will Ask the State Department to Change Its Cipher

DISPATCHES ARE HELD-UP

Belligerent Agents Have in Several Cases Known Text of Messages to Washington

BY CARL W. ACKERMAN

(United Press Staff Correspondent.)

BERLIN, via Amsterdam, Jan. 24.
—The supposedly secret diplomatic codes of the United States government are known to practically every belligerent in Europe. It was learned today, Col. E. M. House, who was conferring with American ambassadors in Europe as the confidential agent of President Wilson, will have this fact impressed on him before he returns to Washington. Through him the state department will be asked to change its cipher.

It is now impossible for any diplomatic agent of the United States in Europe to cable a message to Washington with the certainty that it will be transmitted without its contents being known in Europe. In some instances officials of more than one belligerent country can know the contents of such a message before it reaches Washington.

Little Trouble to Decipher

American diplomats in Europe realize officials of the belligerent nations have not the time to examine all the dispatches they send to Washington. But when these officials know that important dispatches are about to be transmitted, as is often the case, they can be on the alert.

Not only it is possible for European belligerents to obtain such information, but it is known they have done so in numerous instances. A dispatch recently cabled to Washington, by Ambassador Penfield at Vienna, is an illustration. Penfield used the usual route, cabling via Bern and Paris. He first telegraphed to Bern such a dispatch was coming; then he telegraphed it in code. Four days later the American minister to Switzerland wired Penfield that his dispatch had not arrived. Penfield forwarded another version, which arrived before the original message.
The original was mysteriously delayed.

Codes Are Old

There are now three diplomatic codes in use by American ambassadors said to be from five to seven years old. Usually governments change their codes at least three times every two years to keep them from falling into the hands of spies.
The "green code" supposed to be the most secret of all, is said to be well understood by agents of European countries. The code by which American naval attaches communicate with Secretary Daniels is equally well known.

Formerly when Washington sent a note to a European power, the embassy, after decoding the communication, always paraphrased it. This was done so that no code expert in the employ of a foreign government could lay the embassy translation by the side of cabled code messages and thus work out the code.

Mistakes Are Bad

Recently there have been several mistakes that have made it a simple matter for experts to learn the American cipher. The state department, for instance, gave out the copy of Austria's recent reply to the American note as it was translated literally from the American code. Any belligerent who saw this translation and saw the code message as it passed through the hands of the telegraph officials on its way to Washington would have little difficulty working out the code by use of cipher experts.

The possibilities of embassy couriers being bribed to impart information is another disturbing factor. One such incident is said to have been discovered only recently by one of the American embassies in Europe.

HALIFAX, N. S., Jan. 24.—The British munition ship Pollentia has gone to the bottom 700 miles off Cape Race, and the crew is on other ships standing by, according to wireless messages to-day. The Pollentia was in the British admiralty ser-

The Italian liner Giuseppe Verdi, which went to the Pollentia's aid when she sent an "S. O. S." on springing a leak last week, found the decks of the British ship almost level with the water. The Verdi and two other boats had to wait many hours for the sea to subside before the crew could be taken off.

The TRIBUNE'S Daily Short Story

AN INFORMAL TEA

BY LOUISE OLIVER

(Copyright, 1916, by the McClure Newspaper Syndicate.)

Cornelia set out her favorite tea service of black and gold china upon the tray, lighted the samovar and got the tiny cakes Daisy had left for her in the little kitchen. Then she carried the whole thing into her ten-by-ten sitting room—she didn't dare call it a living-room, for who could do aught but sit in ten feet by ten? She sat down in a willow chair by a little wicker table close to a diminutive heater, and while waiting for the water to boil opened a fresh box of caramels and tore the wrapper from her latest favorite magazine. "I'm going to be so comfy!" she purred contentedly, looking around the artistic little room with a glow of pride.

She had reason to be proud of the little room, for small as it was it was the home of an artist, from the front room flower pots to the stove-pipe in the kitchen. Cornelia was supervisor of art in the girls' school near the city. Every day at 4, after a noisy, dirty trip on the cars, she had her tea to wash the crayon, water colors and carbon out of her system.

She filled her cup with the aromatic brew and took a sip. "Um! how delicious!" She nipped at a dainty cake with her pearly front teeth. It melted and was gone! Cornelia purred contentedly little noises and pulled her chair nearer to the table, prepared to enjoy her feast to the full. She propped up the magazine, opened the box of candy and the show was on.

The door of the living-room opened like a gunshot, hitting a black-and-white striped china jardiner with a Jerusalem cherry tree in it and knocked the whole business over, and as instantaneously and explosively closed again. So quickly did it happen that Cornelia would have thought she had been dreaming except that in the place of the striped jardiner stood a striped young man, or rather he bathrobe effect in which he was sheltered was avowing striped, and the person concealed beneath was evidently shivering under the shade of the awning, from the way the stripes were jiggle-waggle in dizzy waves. Moreover, the feet which appeared below the stripes were bare and still damp looking, and the head which stuck out above the stripes was covered by a mop of red hair recently laundered. In plain words, a red-headed young man, evidently just emerged from the bath, was standing in Cornelia's little sitting-room trying his best to have a chill and doing all he could to get enough control of his chattering jaws to explain the situation.

"I—I—I—!" The jaws seemed to have St. Vitus' dance. Not another word could they utter. Cornelia sprang up and in spite of her astonishment managed to get out: "Come over here by the fire and take my chair. You're freezing."

And when the shaking youth and his stripes had subsided into the willow chair and Cornelia had covered up the bare spots with rugs and pillows and things, the jaws consented to yield to reason and became tractable.

"I guess I surprised you!" grinned the newcomer, trying to smooth some kind of order out of the startling angles of wet hair.

"Rather!" answered Cornelia with a smile, for she had had time to see that her visitor had fine eyes, a good nose, excellent teeth and the most attractive mouth she had seen for months. She went on: "Only I hope Daisy, my companion cook and sentry, doesn't return while you're here. I can't answer for the consequences if she finds you."

"You see, it was this way," he explained hastily. "I live in there," jerking his head toward the wall, thereby indicating the companion flat to the one Cornelia occupied.

A Little Blossom To Delight the Home

When it is known that in the near future the home is to be blessed with a new arrival the first thought should be "Mother's Friend." This is an external remedy gently applied over the stomach muscles. It makes them firm and pliant, they expand naturally without undue strain. It removes from the nerves those influences which are responsible for much of the pain incident to the period of expectancy. It is for this reason that much of the distress such as morning sickness is avoided. All prospective fathers should see to it that the expectant mother is provided with a bottle of "Mother's Friend."

The directions are simple. Get it at any drug store. It is applied by the expectant mother herself. It penetrates deeply and affords quick and splendid relief in a most gratifying manner and reflects a physical betterment to the nervous disposition of the baby. Don't fail to get a bottle of "Mother's Friend" today and then write Bradfield Regulator Co., 615 Lamar Bldg., Atlanta, Ga., for a pretty little book brimful of information for expectant mothers. It is a delight to read it.

"My bath is across the hall, and when I was through the spring lock on my door had slipped and I couldn't get in. I knocked at every door on my side of the building and not a soul was at home. Then I slipped down to the entry and rang the janitor's bell, but I guess he is out somewhere, for he didn't come, either. I barely escaped arrest by a passing policeman who looked—in, so I made a dash up your side of the stairs, and then I happened to think we had a common veranda out of our front windows. I can get out here, smash a pane in my window and— presto! change—I'm home."

"But you didn't knock?"

"Neither would you if you thought a cop was after you below and a pair of ladies descending from above. I just didn't time, that's all."

"Well—here's a cup of tea. Now drink it while I hunt up some shoes and stockings of Daisy's. I'm sure you could wear them across the balcony to your window—it's only five or six feet. And I'll lend you my topcoat and a hammer. I'll have to leave the rest of your rescue to the gods."

"No need when a goddess is so kind."

"You sound Hibernian. Only an Irishman could pay compliments under such circumstances."

"I am as Irish as Paddy's pig, and proud of it," promptly answered he, "and my name, to prove it, is Dennis Harrigan. But if the rest of Daisy is in proportion to her shoe, I think I'll be going, if you don't mind. Kerchoo! Beg pardon, I meant good-by. Yes, I'll take quinine right away. Thanks for everything and good-by again." An opened and closed window, a sound of splintering glass, and the stripes were gone.

A week later Cornelia was watching a teacher chaperoning a bevy of young girls to a pond to skate. "You are ill, Miss Conway!" exclaimed Cornelia. "You look shocking. Do let me take your place! I'd love it and can easily wait until the next train to go home."

Miss Conway gladly accepted Cornelia's offer and the latter was soon swinging her skates happily on her way for a frolic. For a while, they skated in pairs, but when the girls decided to crack the whip, Cornelia declined and went upon a little excursion of her own up a tiny stream that appeared to be frozen solid. But suddenly the ice cracked, and in an instant she was in the frigid water, dragged down by the weight of her skates. Had she known it, she was in the "swimming hole" of the countryside. "Help!" she cried. "Help!" But the girls were far away at the other end of the lake and didn't hear. "Help!" she called again, and then she went down.

"Faith, it's the goddess!" said a familiar voice in her ringing ears. Cornelia's departed senses returned with a jump. She was on the ground, with a dozen coats piled over her and some one was starting a fire.

"Never mind that, Mike, my man. I'll just carry her over to the school. Pete, you bring along the skates, and Shorty—you fill up the hole in the ice."

And so the little procession, headed by the tall Irishman carrying wet little Cornelia, and ended by a dozen scared girls, made its way slowly to the seminary, and the little adventure was over for the day.

But not for the next, and the next, and so on ad infinitum, for Dennis had to come over to the little flat every day to inquire for his neighbor and bring a rose or two. And then he got to stopping longer, and finally sitting for an hour or so. And then one evening he said: "Cornelia, darling, I've been thinking that something was meant when the railroad sent me to survey a site at that very place. And surely something was meant when we saved one another from an early grave."

"What do you mean by 'meant,' Dennis?" innocently.

"I mean," said Dennis slowly, watching her color come and go, "that you're prettier than any rose I ever saw and I love you better than the whole wide world. I want you to marry me, mayvourneen, that's what I mean. What do you say, dear?"

"I'll speak to Daisy. She's my mentor as well as my cook and sentry," she returned rather confusedly.

But he had her in his arms. "Nefter mind Daisy!" he cried exultantly. "May the gods bless her boots!"

ENFORCEMENT OF PEACE TERMS HARD

VIENNA, via Berlin Wireless, Jan. 24.—The terms of the agreement for the surrender of Montenegro agreed upon by the Montenegro government, are being carried out with difficulty. An official statement was issued, in view of English reports that the Montenegrins have broken off peace negotiations.

"A general disarming of the Montenegrin people will be delayed, owing principally to the long distances and bad communications in Montenegro," said the statement. "This is further due to the national peculiarities of the Montenegrin people, who ignoring the general situation, do not yet know whether to continue the war on their own account."

New Orleans has a new fight arena, seating 18,500 fans. The first big mill scheduled there is the Kid Williams vs. Pete Herman match on February 7.

Stop trying to "wish away" those gray hairs. Do what your young-looking friends do—bring back the natural color with Hay's Hair Health. Prove that it's an easy matter to get rid of gray hair permanently. Not a soul need know it, because this preparation works gradually and naturally, bringing back the natural color to faded hair—keeping your hair glossy and wavy and removing all dandruff.

Be a young, active-looking man. Don't get in the "has-been" class. Get a bottle today; if it doesn't prove to you that your hair can be as young-looking as you want to, your money will be given back by your druggist.

INSURANCE CASE CLOSED AT MADISON

Neal Brown's Ouster Suit and Defense All In Before Commissioner Cleary

MADISON, Wis., Jan. 24.—With two thousand pages of testimony and 650 separate exhibits before him, Insurance Commissioner M. C. Cleary now awaits submission of written briefs and final arguments in Neal Brown's action to oust several big liability insurance companies from Wisconsin. Formal proceedings before Mr. Cleary and the Industrial commission closed with a non-spectacular finish after thirteen full days of sittings. The respondent companies occupied eight days putting in their defense against charges of violating the anti-discrimination law, sought also to break down the impression created against the purposes and practices of the workmen's compensation service bureau, the central rate-making body maintained by nineteen large companies writing workmen's compensation insurance in Wisconsin and other states.

The Wisconsin proceeding against the insurance companies has resulted in the most thorough investigation of compensation insurance ever conducted in America. This is the third state that has investigated the insurance combine which was organized several years ago, Massachusetts and New York having held inquiries in 1914 and 1913.

BANKS CHARGED WITH USURY

WASHINGTON, Jan. 24.—Usurious practices of many national banks, particularly in the south, were reported by Comptroller Williams to the house rules committee. He submitted detailed information. His evidence was in support of Representative Howard's resolution for congressional investigation. Some national banks have exacted as high as 12 per cent interest, he declared.

Very few political bricks are buried.

NEWS NOTES FROM MOVIELAND

Marguerite Snow, the charming Metro star, who is starred in "Rosemary," is in constant demand among the artists of New York city because of her singular beauty.

If she consented to pose for every prominent artist that besieges her, Miss Snow would not find time for the motion pictures at all, and would only be seen in oils and pastels. However, before leaving for Savannah to play the "lead" in "The Upstart," Miss Snow sat for a miniature for an artist in Carnegie hall, which will be sold at auction for the benefit of the general Red Cross fund.

"Souls in Bondage," Nance O'Neil's Next

Nance O'Neil has completed her work on the multiple reel feature, "Souls in Bondage," and is enthusiastic in her praise of the same. "Souls in Bondage" is an original story written for the screen by Daniel Carson Goodman, author of "The Gods of Fate."

"Souls in Bondage" was chosen by Miss O'Neil as the story best suited to exploit her talents. It is a "sex drama" in five acts, and runs the gamut of emotion. On the release the last day of this month it is predicted Nance O'Neil will add fresh laurels to those already won.

Somber on Screen: Gay in Private Life

Contrary to the very natural supposition, Pauline Frederick is the most blithesome and happy of individuals in private life.

To see her on the screen in "Zaza" or "Bella Donna," or any other of the Famous Players-Paramount productions, is to picture a very somber, deeply intellectual person who preferred Russian novels and heavily draped rooms to candy, novels and the open air.

But Miss Frederick is nothing if not full of fun and radiant with the joy of living.

Early in 1916 Ruth Roland and Henry King are going to be seen again on the screen in Balboa features as co-stars. Both appeared prominently before the public last year. They were one of the most popular film couples. A number of scenarios by well known screen writers are being prepared especially for Miss Rowland and Mr. King.

The first Mutual Masterpicture, Edition De Luxe, to come from the studios of the Thanhouser Company at New Rochelle, will be the intensely dramatic and vividly human photoplay entitled "Betrayed." This picture will be released January 27, and will be of the usual high quality which characterizes the output of Edwin Thanhouser.

SAYS BOSSHARD WILL DEFEAT MCGOVERN

The Milwaukee Sentinel, which loves neither Senator Boshard nor Mr. McGovern, thus analyzes the candidate of the Milwaukee man:

Now that the implacable La Follette has neatly put another spoke in Mr. McGovern's wheel by springing the Boshard candidacy at the psychological and malevolent moment, Mr. McGovern's candidacy as such becomes of comparatively little moment.

Mr. Boshard, as by far the fresher and more representative man from the "progressive" point of view, will make short work of Mr. McGovern in the primaries.

We suppose he (McGovern) will run in the primaries, and then run again as an "independent" after the primaries. But he must realize that he has not the remotest chance.

In view of the Free Press' admission that McGovern is running for governor "to keep in the limelight pending the time when there shall be a chance to succeed either Hust-ing or La Follette in the senate", the Sentinel's logic is supported by something more than the greater political weight of Senator Boshard.
Voters do not hold in esteem candidacies which form merely connecting links in the political schemes of individuals.

LET THE DANCERS PAY THE FIDDLER

In spite of all the clamor of the capitalistic press and the "Conference Committee of Preparedness", the military propaganda doesn't take hold. The man of the street is not deeply interested. In the absence of specific danger from any particular quarter, it apparently seems to him only an academic question. The reason is that there are certain features of the preparedness propaganda that put a sting in its tail for the average man.

Any increase in the country's military program involves an increase in expenditures, unless unexpected and unparalleled efficiency of government should develop. In view of the source of the preparedness clamor, that appears a remote possibility. To gentlemen of the munitions trade who want preparedness, spending is an indispensable concomitant of preparation. Somebody will have to foot the bills, which is where the average man comes in. Already "consumption taxes" have been proposed which indicate where he is expected to enter.

The slaughter-burden of war has ever fallen on the man in the street.
Tens of thousands of him are killed and wounded by every clash between nations. This is not particularly just in view of the generally accepted belief that modern wars are of commercial genesis. It seems doubly unfair that a good share of his scanty income should be required of him preparatory to the demand of his life.

The gentlemen who profit by war do not, as a general thing, do much of the fighting. Names of capitalists are so unique upon casualty lists as to cause genuine surprise by their occasional appearance.

It may be argued that war slays few capitalists because there are relatively few to kill. But even if this favorable view be admitted, it cannot be denied that a war of commercial origin is waged for the pre-ponderant interest of capital. Even as the men in the street outnumber the men in the mahogany-trimmed offices, the commercial interests of plutocracy overshadow the commercial concerns of the average man.
It is unfair to demand that the beneficiaries of preparedness pay for their protection?

We reiterate that consideration of the benefits of preparedness suggests two tests, which, if they could be applied, would result in interesting revelations about the honesty of the propaganda. One is a policy of government manufacture of munitions. The other is a rapidly progressive income tax to pay the price.

ANOTHER FALSIFICATION

"La Follette-Roosevelt combination is talked," says a headline in our evening contemporary.

Of all men in American public life, that one whom Senator La Follette, with excellent reason, most earnestly opposes is Theodore Roosevelt. This is known of all men who read. Roosevelt's betrayal of La Follette midway in the last presidential campaign is history. La Follette's break with McGovern came when the latter played into "T. R.'s" hands by becoming Roosevelt's candidate for chairman of the convention. Roosevelt henchmen in the La Follette headquarters kept Oyster Bay in touch with the La Follette program.
The whole anti-La Follette plot of 1912 centered about Roosevelt. No man who knows Robert M. La Follette but knows the senator's hand is twice bitten by the same teeth. The man who wrote the Leader-Press story, dated in Madison, if he is competent to discuss Wisconsin politics, knew his story was untrue.

The writer in the Madison dispatch based his yarn upon "the surprising number of Roosevelt adherents who have been selected by the senator as district delegates." The fact is that this shows merely defection from McGovern of many republicans who, renouncing Taft and unable to turn democratic, followed McGovern into the bull moose camp.
In every state they are coming back, as everybody knows, and in Wisconsin the deserters from the Roosevelt-McGovern alliance are turning in vast numbers to La Follette and Boshard.

Quips and Cranks and Wanton Wiles

In Memoriam
Frank D. Gildersleeve, assistant general passenger agent of the Baltimore & Ohio, is trying to "get by"
with this one:

Pat, a new, created section boss, was taking his old friend Mike over the route. They passed a mile post.
It read:

"Baltimore forty-two miles."
"Phwat does that mean?" Mike inquired.

"Now," says Gildersleeve, "Pat did not know, but he would not betray his ignorance. With true Irish aplomb he rose to the situation."
"Ver ignorance is horrible," he told Mike, "Take off your hat to the dead. Sure, his name was Miles, he was 42 years old, and he lived in Baltimore, and they buried him where he was kilt."—St. Louis Globe-Democrat.

Meek Diplomacy Colonel Roosevelt, just after the announcement of the sinking of the Arabic, said at a dinner in New York:

"We have been too meek in our discussions about submarine warfare. Meekness is not the tone to use with Germany."

"But, colonel," said a peace-at-any-price, "but you must remember that the meek shall inherit the earth."

"Perhaps they will," said colonel Roosevelt. "Perhaps they will—when the rest are done with it."—Washington Star.

Cows Are Thirsty
"But," said the young wife, "I'm sure the milk is watery."

"I'll tell you how it was, ma'am," replied the foxy milkman. "You see, the cows got into the salt bin somehow last week, and it made 'em awful thirsty. It won't occur again, though."

Poor Thackeray
Soph.—Did you see that movie called "Vanity Fair?"

Senior—Yes; gosh, it would make some book!

The Real Thing
A Philadelphian, on his way to Europe, was experiencing seasickness for the first time. Calling his wife to his bedside, he said in a weak voice:

"Jenny, my will is in the Commercial Trust company's care. Everything is left to you, dear. My various stocks you will find in my safe deposit box." Then he said fervently: "And, Jenny, bury me on the other side. I can't stand this trip again, alive or dead."

Neutral
Historical controversies are creeping into the schools. In a New York public institution attended by many races, during an examination in history the teacher asked a little chap:

"Who discovered America?"

He was evidently thrown into a panic and hesitated, much to the teacher's surprise, to make any reply.

"Oh, please, ma'am," he finally stammered, "ask me something else."

"Something else, Jimmy? Why should I do that?"

"The fellers was talkin' 'bout it yesterday," replied Jimmy. "Pat Mc-Gee said it was discovered by an Irish saint. Olaf he said it was a sailor from Norway and Giovanni said it was Columbus, an' if you'd a seen what happened you wouldn't ask a little feller like me."

You Want the Best?
Try Making Mentho-Laxene.

A splendid, quick acting cough syrup and cold cure. It has no equal for prompt action and permanent effects on children or adults. Immediate results is the pleasing feature.
Cheapness is another. Permanent system cleaning another. Not constipating still another. Those who have used it, swear by it, and recommend to neighbors and friends.

Obtain a 2½-ounce package of Essence Mentho-Laxene, empty it into a pint bottle. Then pour a half pint of boiling water over a pint of granulated sugar. Stir and cool. Then fill up the pint bottle with syrup.
Full directions for use accompany each package of the essence. It contains no habit drugs or poisons.

Warm the house and make a home!

The uppermost thought of all mothers is to have a home that is cleanly, amply warmed, to cheer and comfort husband and little folks; also to make the home a cozy, genial center for the gatherings of good friends. All mothers now-a-days deserve to be freed forever from the back-breaking drudgery of "tending stoves," that heat only "in spots," and spout ash-dust and coal-gases. The only sure way to warm a house and make it a home is with an outfit of

He Couldn't Get in a Word Blanche met Carolyn at a ball and they were talking of one of the young men.

"I don't care for him at all," remarked Blanche. "He's a regular bore."

"Indeed," replied Carolyn. "Why, I thought he was perfectly lovely."

"Well," said Blanche, "he yawned three times while I was talking to him."

"Perhaps he wasn't yawning," suggested Carolyn. "He may have been trying to say something, my dear."—St. Louis Post-Dispatch.

EARL DERR BIGGERS

Who Wrote SEVEN KEYS TO BALTPATE

The spy's heart was suddenly drained, and the wisp of paper in his hand trembled so that it scattered the quinine about in a thin cloud. Once more he read the note, then held a match to it and scuffed its feathery ash with his feet into the rug beneath his stool. The fortitude which had held Joseph Almer to the Rock in the never-falling hope that some day would bring him the opportunity to do a great service for the fatherland came near crumbling that minute. He groaned.

"Our friends," he whispered, "Woodhouse and Louisa—trapped!"

The warning in the note left nothing open to ambiguity for Almer: there were but four of them—"friends" under the Wilhelmstrasse fellowship of danger—there in Gibraltar; Louisa, the man who passed as Woodhouse, and whose hand was to execute the great coup when the right moment came, himself, and that other one whose place was in Government House itself. From the latter the note of warning had come. How desperate the necessity for it Almer could guess when he took into reckoning the dangers that beset any attempt at communication on the writer's part. So narrow the margin of safety for this "friend" that he must look at each setting sun as being reasonably the last for him.

Almer did not attempt to go behind the note and guess who was the informer that had lodged information with the governor-general. He had forgotten, in fact, the incident of the night before, when the blustering Capper called the newly arrived Woodhouse by name. The flash of suspicion that attached responsibility to the American girl named Gerson was dissipated as quickly as it came; she had arrived by motor from Paris, not on the boat from Alexandria. His was now the imperative duty to carry warning to the two suspected, not to waste time in idle speculation as to the identity of the betrayer. There was but one ray of hope in this sudden pall of gloom, and that Almer grasped eagerly. He knew the character of General Crandall—the phlegmatic conservatism of the man, which would not easily be jarred out of an accustomed line of thought and action. The general would be slow to leap at an accusation brought against one wearing the stripes of service; and, though he might reasonably attempt to test Captain Woodhouse, one such as Woodhouse, chosen by the Wilhelmstrasse to accomplish so great a mission, would surely have the wit to parry suspicion.

Yes, he must be put on his guard. As for Louisa—well, it would be too bad if the girl should have to put her back against a wall; but she could be spared; she was not essential. After he had succeeded in getting word of his danger to Woodhouse, Almer would consider saving Louisa from a firing squad. The nimble mind of Herr Almer shook itself free from the incubus of dread and leaped to the exigency of the moment. Calling his head waiter to keep warm the chair behind the desk, Almer retired to his room, and there was exceedingly busy for half an hour.

The hour parade during war time on Gibraltar was one o'clock. At that time, six days a week, the half of the garrison not actually in fighting position behind the great guns of the defense marched to the parade grounds down by the race track and there went through the grilling regimen that meant perfection and the maintenance of a hair-trigger state of efficiency. Down from the rocky eminence where the barracks stood, marched this day block after block of olive-drab fighting units—artillerymen for the most part, equipped with the rifle and pack of infantrymen. No blare of brass music gave the measure to their step; bandmen in this time of reality paced two by two, stretchers carried between them. All the curl and snap of silken banners that made the parade a moving spectacle in ordinary times was absent; flags did not figure in the grim modern business of warfare. Just those solid blocks of men trained to kill, sweeping down on to the level grounds and massing, rank on rank, for inspection and the trip-hammer pound-pound-pound of evolutions to follow. Silent integers of power, flexing their muscles for the supreme test that any morning's sun might bring.

Mr. Henry J. Sherman stood with his wife, Kitty and Willy Kimball—Kimball had developed a surprising interest in one of these home folks, at least—under the shade of the row of plane trees fringing the parade grounds. They tried to persuade themselves that they were seeing something worth while. This pleasing fiction wore thin with Mr. Sherman before fifteen minutes had passed.

"Shucks, mother! The boys at the national-guard encampment down to Galesburg fair last year made a better showing than this." He pursed out his lips and regarded a passing battalion with a critical eye.

"Looked more like soldiers, anyway," mother admitted. "Those floppy, broad-brimmed hats our boys wear make them look more—more romantic, I'd say."

"But, my dear Mrs. Sherman," Willy Kimball flicked his handkerchief from his cuff and fluttered it across his coat sleeve, where dust had fallen—"the guards back in the States are play soldiers, you know; these chaps here—well, they are the real thing. They don't dress up like picture-book soldiers and show off."

"Play soldiers—huh!" Henry J. had fire in his eye, and the pearl buttons on his white linen waistcoat creaked with the swelling of a patriot's pride. "You've been a long time from home, Willy. Perhaps you've forgotten that your own father was at Corinth. Guess you've overlooked that soldiers' monument in Courthouse Square back in the little old Kewanee. They were 'play soldiers,' eh?—those boys who marched away with your dad in sixty-one. Gimme a regiment of those old boys in blue, and they could lick this whole bunch of—"

"Father!" Kitty had flipped her hand over her parent's mouth, her eyes round with real fear. "You'll get arrested again, talking that way here where everybody can hear you. Remember what that hotel man said last night about careless remarks about military things on the Rock? Be good, father."

"There, there!" Sherman removed the monetary hand and patted it reassuringly. "I forgot. But when I get aboard the Sanonia and well out to sea, I'm going to just bust information about what I think of things in general over here in this Europe place—their Botticelli pictures and their broken-down churches and—and—Why, bless my soul! The little store buyer and that Iowa girl who's married to the governor here!"

The patriot stopped short in his review of the Continent's delinquencies to wave his hat at Lady Crandall and Jane Gerson, who were trundling down under the avenue of planes in a smart dog-cart. Lady Crandall answered his hail with a flourish of her whip, turned her horse off the road, and brought her conveyance to a stop by the group of exiles. Hearty greetings passed around. The governor's wife showed her unaffected pleasure at the meeting.

ROOT AND STIMSON APPROVE GARRISON CONTINENTAL PLAN

WASHINGTON, Jan. 24.—Two former secretaries of war, Elihu Root, republican, and Henry L. Stimson, progressive-republican, Saturday discussed favorably Secretary Garrison's continental army plan.

Root in a letter to the National Security congress declared "the idea of building up the militia to take the place of an army under federal control, is absurd."

In an address before the league Henry L. Stimson approved Garrison's plan of adding to the skeleton form of the regular army, but pointed out that this increase could not be too large because of the great expense of maintaining it.

President Wilson will not insist upon creation of Secretary Garrison's proposed continental army if it threatens the whole program, according to information of administration leaders in congress.

The president is, however, adamant against Senator Chamberlain's compulsory military education plan, according to the same sources.

The rule is that, if the woman is good looking, the jury finds it easy to believe in her innocence.

FORMER WARRIORS OF GALLIOLI TALK MUCH OF DEPARTED

BY WILBUR S. FORREST
(United Press Staff Correspondent.)

LONDON, Jan. 8.—(By mail.)—Australians and New Zealanders are drifting into London since the abandonment of the British positions on Gallipoli peninsula. In London tea rooms, on street corners and elsewhere the tanned, burly Australians, the dusky Maoris and lighter complexioned New Zealanders meet. They talk a great deal among themselves about the abandoned dead. "It wasn't leaving the place that hurt; it's the thought of a fellow's best friends buried in those gullies and ravines," said an Anzac fighter today. He talked about the appalling number of casualties suffered by the Anzacs; of lonely cemeteries under the cliffs, and in Shrapnel Gully; of burials under cover of darkness to escape the enemy's fire and of midnight funeral services where the officiating priest or clergyman could be heard and not seen. Almost everyone of the thousands of graves at Anzac is marked with a cross—sometimes bearing a name, but more often reading, "To the Memory of Fifty Australians," or "To the Memory of Fifty New Zealanders." To the Maoris it was not so hard to leave their dead. They believe the place where a dead man lies is sacred; watched over by spirits who would do evil to intruders. Grotesque wooden idols with sea shell eyes perch garishly on sticks above the graves of the Maori warriors. The true spirit of humanity which animates the Turks in their fighting is shown in the stories of the Anzacs. An instance of this was shown in May when both sides agreed to a burial armistice. An imaginary line was drawn through No Man's Land between the trenches and pickets from both sides patrolled it while searching parties from both scoured the underbrush of the hills and hollows. The Turks brought the Christian dead to the line, the Anzacs doing likewise with the slain Mohammedans. Religious rites were hurriedly observed on both sides as the bodies were placed in hastily dug trenches. Crosses were erected and the armistice came to an end. It is this spirit on the part of the Turk that makes the Anzacs believe that the last resting place of their dead, crosses, inscriptions and all, will not be molested. Hundreds of Anzacs will go back there after the war to visit the silent graves. It is declared not improbable that all the crosses marking the thousands of graves will be replaced by more durable markings of stone to forever commemorate the memory of the dead.

CHAPLIN EFFIGY DRAWS DOWN FIRE

NORTHERN FRANCE.—A wooden effigy of Charlie Chaplin, looted from the front of a picture show in Yorkshire and brought to France is daily hoisted up over one of the trenches to the fury of the Germans who subject Charlie to severe bombardment. One bombardment lasted two hours and resulted in little material damage.

YES—IT IS POSSIBLE TO STOP RHEUMATISM

Rheumatism is a tormenting and stubborn malady. In some cases it yields to treatment which is without avail in other cases.

The darting pains, lame muscles or stiffened joints only disappear by gradually expelling the uric acid, and so many thousands have been relieved by the blood-enriching oil-food in Scott's Emulsion that you should give it a faithful trial. Scott's Emulsion acts as a powerful blood-purifier by increasing the red corpuscles and it strengthens the organs to carry off the acids which cause the trouble.

Try Scott's Emulsion. It cannot harm. It has helped thousands and may be exactly what you need. No Alcohol.

KEEP LOOKING YOUNG

It's Easy—If You Know Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets

The secret of keeping young is to feel young—to do this you must watch your liver and bowels—there's no need of having a sallow complexion—dark rings under your eyes—pimples—a bilious look in your face—dull eyes with no sparkle.

Your doctor will tell you ninety per cent of all sickness comes from inactive bowels and liver.

Dr. Edwards, a well-known physician in Ohio, perfected a vegetable compound mixed with olive oil to act on the liver and bowels, which he gave to his patients for years.

Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets, the substitute for calomel, are gentle in their action, yet always effective.

They bring about that exuberance of spirit, that natural buoyancy which should be enjoyed by everyone, by toning up the liver and clearing the system of impurities.

You will know Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets by their olive color. 10c and 25c per box. All druggists.

BIG PLANS MADE FOR GALESVILLE FIREMEN'S BALL

Affair Expected to Be Most Brilliant of the Season; Festival Pans Finished GALESVILLE, Wis., Jan. 24.—(Special.)—The Firemen's banquet, one of the biggest social events of the Galesville year, is to take place on Friday evening, February 2. This was the word given to the local townspeople this week after a meeting held Friday evening.

The general committee in charge consists of William Hegy as chairman, and Martin Swensen and Thomas Hunter as helpers. They have named the following committees: Entertainment, Mr. and Mrs. Percy Sacia, Mr. and Mrs. G. Schlichenmaier, Mr. and Mrs. Mort Phillips and Mr. and Mrs. Carl McKeith; children, Mr. and Mrs. Oscar Anderson, Mr. and Mrs. H. L. Sturdevant; dance, L. J. Welfare Club Meets The Community Welfare club of Galesville held its second public meeting of the year at high school assembly room Thursday evening of this week. A good sized crowd was in attendance and enjoyed the different numbers on the program. The following program was given:

Music, followed by a short business meeting.
Talk, Principal C. J. Anderson.
Readings, Misses Josephine Olson and Mildred Rynning.
Paper, Dr. H. A. Jegi.
Duet, Mrs. Alex Arnold and O. D. Witherbee.
Paper, Dr. D. M. Phillips.

Burns Plans Complete
Final preparations for the annual Burns' festival have been completed and all is in readiness for the big day. All places here which cater to the public have prepared to handle overflow crowds and restaurants have put in an extra supply of food in anticipation of the event which is sure to bring one of the largest crowds in Galesville's history. Great interest is being displayed in the hospital as teams from Portage, Winona, Pickwick and other towns along the line are expected to be here to compete with Galesville teams.

Teams Win and Lose
Basketball teams of the Galesville high school won and lost on Friday evening of last week. The boys' team defeated the team representing Kendall high school in the local gym by the score of 48 to 10. The visitors were completely outclassed and Galesville had an easy time of it. The game was an interesting one, however, as the enemy put up an uphill and plucky fight which made the town boys struggle every inch of the way. On the same evening at Westby the local girls' team lost to the Westby team by the score of 18 to 5 in an exciting game on Westby's floor. Interest in the sport is high here as both teams are the best representatives that the local school had in some time.

Give Talks
The plan of having the seniors of the high school present oral topics to take the place of long theses has met with splendid success and some interesting talks have been given. During the past week Lester Klanrud, Edwin Swensen and Charles Kidder presented the subject "Civil Engineering," Elsie Parker and Margaret Hammer, "Social Settlement," Hazel Hinds and Teresa Uhl, "Home Economics," and Esther Hegy and Minnie Klein, "Law."

Firemen Elect
Hook and Ladder Company No. 1 of the Galesville fire department have elected the following officers for the coming year: Foreman, John Johnson; first assistant, Eugene Lynn; second assistant, Wil Hegy; secretary, Oscar Anderson; treasurer, Will Hall; trustee, Harry Sturdevant.

Sparta Pastor Speaks
Reverend John N. Zydenman of Sparta will preach in the Presbyterian church on Sunday afternoon and evening. "The Sower" will be the subject of discourse in the morning and the topic for the evening will be "Four Friends of the Family." The Galesville W. C. T. U. will meet at the home of Mrs. H. A. Jegi on Tuesday afternoon, January 25. The subject for the afternoon's discussion will be "The Enforcement of Law in Dry Towns" and the leader will be Mrs. Mary D. Arnold.

Mrs. Dale Entertains
The Ladies' Aid society of the Synod Lutheran church was entertained by Mrs. Mary Dale and Mrs. C. Seavold on Thursday afternoon.

BURTON PLEADS FOR REPUBLICAN UNITY

MILWAUKEE, Jan. 24.—A greater America and a united republican party, was the message brought to Wisconsin by former Senator Theodore E. Burton of Ohio, who addressed 400 banqueters Friday night at the Hotel Pfister. Senator Burton is a candidate for the republican nomination for president.

Senator Burton decried the administration's "humiliating exhibition of weakness" in its attitude toward Mexico, advocated a foreign policy that shall at all times be without bluster and cringing, recommended a tariff commission, urged "immediate and earnest consideration of the question of preparedness for all contingencies," discussed the relation of the state to business, and presented a glowing picture of the larger America at the close of the European war.

The Boston marathon will be minus Edward Fabre, the sensational Canadian runner, who has enlisted for service in the expeditionary forces. Fabre's appearance in the long run always spelled a swift race.

CATARRH LEADS TO CONSUMPTION

Catarrh is as much a blood disease as scrofula or rheumatism. It may be relieved, but it cannot be removed by simply local treatment. It breaks down the general health, weakens the lung tissues, and leads to consumption.

Hood's Sarsaparilla is so successful in the treatment of catarrh that it is known as the best remedy for this disease. It purifies the blood. Ask your druggist for it.

ANOTHER FLOOD THREATENS YUMA

Colorado and Gila Rivers Continue to Rise and the Lowlands Are Inundated

YUMA, ARIZ., Jan. 24.—The crest of a second flood was reported to be coming down the Colorado and Gila rivers today.

However, they had receded several feet from Saturday's high, which threatened to wipe out the city and the worst was believed to be over.

Homeless and destitute Mexicans, their houses in the lowlands washed away, were sheltered today in tents and shacks on high ground.

The known drowned in the flood still stood at one today, although four others are reported to have perished. Railroad transportation was still suspended. The dams, gates and levees in the Imperial valley, several of which were reported to be weakening, have held safely so far. The property loss in Yuma and Yuma valley was estimated at $1,000,000.

DANBURY MATTERS MUST SELL HOMES TO PAY CHARGES

Aged Defendant Tells of Hardships Brought Upon Them by Court

NEW YORK, Jan. 24.—After fighting through the federal courts for thirteen years 188 aged Danbury hatters have reached the point where they feel there is nothing left to do but sacrifice their savings and the homes in which they had hoped to spend the few remaining years most of them have to live. Within the next two months, homes and savings will be seized to satisfy the $252,000 judgment standing against them in the famous Danbury hatters case.

Martin Lawler, one of the original defendants, now living in New York, today told of the discouragement of the aged union men. The order of sale of their homes has been approved by the federal court.

Appeal to Congress Fruitless

"We Danbury hatters," said Lawler, "have made our fight and lost. Our appeal to congress was, we know, a forlorn hope, but it was under the law which that congress passed, that we were prosecuted and we felt it was no more than right that congress should pay the judgment. It is generally conceded that the Sherman anti-trust law was not intended to apply to organizations of workingmen. The Clayton anti-trust law specifically exempts such organizations; still we have no redress and now we have no hope."

"I was running through the list the other day and the first sixteen names, among the defendants I counted, figured an average of 72 years. Of course, lots and lots of us have died. The suit started with 243 defendants and there's only 188 of us left."

"Many and many a one of us is so old when the suit was started in 1903 that we weren't either active members of the union, nor working at the trade nor doing anything but staying home and minding our business even then, and that's thirteen years ago."

Judgment Third of Million

The judgment and interest to date amounts to between $206,000 and $310,000 now.

The Danbury Hatters case originates in the suit filed under the Sherman anti-trust law in 1903 by Dietrich E. Loewe, hatter, manufacturer of Danbury, Conn., against 243 members of the Hatters' union, whom he charged with boycotting his establishment and damaging his business.

shall publish an account of the locality from German sources."

Not Immune

The Daily Mail declared the Sunday raids showed the folly of believing that London has been made immune from air attacks, simply because no Zeppelins have attacked the city for several months.

"The raids on Kent promptly confirmed Flight Commander Billing's prediction that air raids are apt to become more dangerous than Zeppelin raids," said the Mail.

Some of the aeronautic experts believe that the Fokker was built solely for defensive features and incapable of a flight to London. Others give warning, however, that the German fighting ship is probably well equipped for a quick dash to England.

Peter La Rose, farmer, but more recently imitation of J. Rufus Wallingford, is on his way back to Chippewa Falls, Wis., there to answer an embezzlement charge, the result of his efforts to copy the high financier of fiction.

La Rose, according to Chippewa officials, rented a farm from Frank Muth near that place. For two years he worked diligently, tilling the soil and tending the stock, with which the farm was equipped when he moved onto it, and each evening the neighbors were wont to see him homeward plodding his weary way.

A few days ago he conceived the idea of "easy money."

With Peter, to think was to act and in a few hours he had disposed of the entire stock to a neighbor who, it is alleged, believed he was the owner of the farm.

The next morn they

"* * * missed him on the 'cussed hill.

Along the heath and near his favorite tree;

Another came; nor yet beside the rill

Nor up the lawn, nor at the wood was he."

Muth soon heard of his disappearance, then learned of the sale of the stock and then P. Z. Gillett, the sheriff, was told the entire story.

Then, "haply some hoary-headed swain did say" that he had "seen him at the peep of dawn, brushing with hasty steps the dew away"—no, not to "meet the sun upon the upland lawn" but to catch a south-bound Northwestern train.

Early yesterday, in fact at the identical moment when Peter was starting to milk at the Goldfish farm in the town of Campbell, La Crosse county, where he had secured employment, Detectives McGrath and Fitzsimmons and Captain Lawrence Dugan of the La Crosse police department, appeared with a warrant.

Peter started for Chippewa Falls today with Sheriff Gillett, there to explain to the court just why he should not become a guest at Wisconsin's penitentiary.

The money he is alleged to have secured from the illegal sale of stock has not been recovered.

the Mexicans attempted to cross the international line near here.

One Mexican is reported to have been killed.

It is claimed the Mexicans drew their guns after they were ordered not to cross armed. It was reported the Mexicans said they were merely after cavalry horses which had strayed across the border.

Brigadier General John J. Pershing, commander of the border forces here, is investigating.

DCUGLAS, Ariz., Jan. 24.—Eight American mining men were hanged by Mexican bandits two months ago at Carnejutla, Oaxaca, Mexico, according to Andrew J. Trumbo, an American refugee, on his arrival here Saturday enroute to his home in Los Angeles.

Trumbo, a refugee from Mexico, stated he saw the eight bodies hanging from trees along the highway and that they were not Mexicans. An old Mexican, he said, whom he met near the scene, said the "gringos" were hanged on orders from Villa.

MURPHY PREDICTS GLAD HAND

Says Party Is Not for Punishing Progressives for the Break of 1912

CHICAGO, Jan. 24.—Refusing to comment on Colonel Theodore Roosevelt as a republican presidential possibility, Charles D. Hilles, chairman of the G. O. P. national committee, declared today that "the candidate will be born at the convention."

"The field is absolutely open," Mr. Hilles said, "No candidate has made a definite announcement."

Other republican leaders, who are here with Hilles today to attend the sub-committee meeting on convention arrangements, were equally reticent on the Roosevelt question.

Former Governor Franklin Murphy of New Jersey, one of the committee, refused to be quoted on Roosevelt at all.

"If the progressives don't get nasty about it," he said, "they probably can secure a candidate suitable to all elements."

Governor F. Murphy said the republicans are ready to hold out the gladhand to the bull moose.

"I have yet to find a republican who wants to punish them for their breakaway of 1912," Murphy declared.

Senator Theodore Burton of Ohio, probable candidate for the presidential nomination, was in Chicago today but declared the republican gathering was merely an incident and not the purpose of his trip. He is enroute to Grand Rapids, Mich., from Milwaukee.

Burton, too, declared the candidate will be born at the convention.

The sub-committee, which will have to attend two banquets while here, determined today to hold an extra session tomorrow in order to clean up all details of the convention arrangements. Plans are being made for a seating capacity of 12,500 at the Coliseum, where the interior arrangements will be practically the same as in 1912.

SHERWOOD CAUSTIC IN HIS ATTACK ON EXTRAVAGANCE

Old Civil War General Leads Fight Against Wilson Defense Program

WASHINGTON, Jan. 24.—Regardless of the merits of the case, it must be admitted that the anti-preparedness forces in congress were pretty shrewd in putting forward General Isaac R. Sherwood of Ohio to open their campaign against the preparedness program.

For the general is not only a well beloved figure in the house and thus certain to command, on personal grounds, the close attention of his colleagues, but his remarks on the preparedness program has additional "punch" and political significance for three reasons. First, as everybody knows, because he is an old soldier, the only union general surviving from the Civil war; second, because he is a democrat of unimpeachable standing, and third, because he is known to be a close student of the existing military establishment. The general's military library is said to be one of the largest in Washington, outside of the regular army circles. His position in general is that the country should have a small but highly efficient army.

"And when I say small and efficient," said the general the other day in discussing his views in the headquarters of the Anti-Preparedness committee in the Munsey building, "I don't mean small and expensive."

"That's what we've got now, a costly and inefficient establishment.
Why, you take West Point. In many ways, West Point is the key to the situation, for the things which the boys learn at West Point are the things they will believe in and practice when they get into the service.
Back in 1879 when Grant was president, the appropriation for West Point was $115,000, which included $2,000 to pay for the yearly jamboree of the congressional committee. Now the appropriation is more than two and a half million. It costs to educate a student at West Point more than $1,500 a year, while at the University of Ann Arbor the average rate is $118 a year.

"You go up to West Point and you will find 180 regular army privates on duty there at a cost of $50,000 and nobody knows what they are there for. You look into the books and you will find in order for $7-350, pay for the military band and twelve enlisted musicians; that seems all right. Then you run across another item of $5,181, pay for twelve additional musicians. Your eye goes down the page and you find $2,750, pay for sixteen additional enlisted musicians, and an additional pay for length of services of $5,000. In other words the total amount for music for West Point for one year is $24,000. Martial music, hey? or dance music? When music, heavenly maid, was young, she did not come that high! The general thinks that West Point ought to look less like a cluster of palaces and more like a barracks.

Wants Economy

"Plain bare walls and narrow iron beds—that's all a soldier ought to have when he's indoors. But there are few fashionable schools more elaborate than West Point. You find an item of $1,200 for the pay of a photographer and $1,800 for a professor on swimming; you find an item of $3,000 to enlarge the front porch of the superintendent. Most anybody could enlarge a front porch for $3,000! You find an item of $4-000 for flowers and $400 for waxing the floors of the dancing hall.
The flowers and the wax are for the benefit of the seminary girls on the Hudson river, who come to dance the twilight tango with the cadets, and enjoy the flavor of rarest flowers and exotics while they wait with the boys and stand on slippery places!"

"But the small and fashionable ring of army and navy officials move heaven and earth and congress to maintain the status quo. What the people of the United States should demand is an investigation of our entire military establishment from top to bottom. We have never had one since the Civil war. Take the li-off: guarantee immunity from official persecution to every officer—and private—who will tell the truth about the way our men are trained, treated and promoted; about our inefficient units and our luxurious unsoldierly establishments.

Would Keep Militia

"I have never been a peace-at-any-price devotee, neither am I a member of any society for limiting armament, but before I vote to waste any more money to increase idle armies or top-heavy navies, I want to know what emergency exists for such expenditure. Not one of the advocates of 'preparedness' has given congress one valid reason why we should squander any more hard-earned tax money on militarism.

"We have now the second strongest navy in the world with no enemy in sight and nothing to do but to waste powder in target practice and concoct war scares and give tone and polish to our flamboyant Washington society. Ye gods, what has become of the plank of the Baltimore national platform, pledging the democratic party to economy and the abolition of useless offices?"

"But what would you do, general?" he was asked.

"Well," he said, "instead of increasing our standing army which costs us more than a hundred million dollars a year, I favor reducing it one-half, to 50,000 men. This would probably save close to $50-000 a year, which should be used to improve and strengthen our National Guard, and the National Guard—

Ware, who stars in the new Girlfithtrim street costume which is pleasing in its simplicity and correctness of line and plain but rich material. The very latest word in night robes is also displayed in a scene in her bou-

STALWARTS MEET TO PICK SLATE FOR PRIMARIES Political Interest Shifts to Madison This Week For Republican Convention

MADISON, Wis., Jan. 24.—(Special.)—Wisconsin political interest will again shift to Madison this week with the convening of the republican state convention called by the state central committee. This convention will select a list of delegates to be voted on at the April primaries for the national republican convention. The moving spirits back of the convention are the conservative republicans.
 At Senator La Follette's offices it was stated that congressional district meetings had been held all over the state and the candidates were already in the field. It was intimated that the nomination papers for the La Follette delegates, would be placed in circulation not later than Wednesday. This means that the names of the four candidates for delegates at large on the La Follette slate will be announced at that time.
 Judged by the announcements of the conservative republicans there will be over 1,000 present at the convention to be held in the gymnasium on Thursday. This convention will be asked to declare in favor of some candidate for the United States senatorship in opposition to Senator La Follette. Former State Senator John M. Whitehead of Janesville is already a tentative candidate. It is probable that M. J. Jeffris of Janesville will be voted for at the convention meeting. His large acquaintance over the state because of his vigorous speeches in opposition to La Follette in 1904 makes him an especially desirable candidate, according to the statements of many of the conservatives.
 Moreover, there is a spirited interest being taken in the action of the Marathon county delegation in naming A. L. Kreutzer of Wausau as a candidate before the convention. There are some who believe that an entire state ticket will be endorsed at the time.
 The politicians here express the opinion that Theodore Roosevelt will be a candidate at the Wisconsin republican primaries for the presidency and declare that the announcement of Governor F. E. McGovern for the gubernatorial nomination last week is but the opening wedge in a Roosevelt campaign in the state. In that case Mr. McGovern would probably be a candidate for Roosevelt delegates at large.

EX-ENVOY'S FEED NOT SO SWELL AS AT FIRST THOUGHT
 WASHINGTON, Jan. 24.—The breakfast that Assistant Secretary of War Breckinridge enjoyed at Chevy Chase club with Captain von Papen, and ex-Ambassador Dumba was not as thrilling, it developed today, as early reports made it. Also it was not a breakfast, but a luncheon.
 The story started from a stub in von Papen's check book, now held in London. The item $68 for that Chevy Chase meal, resulted in the publication of the story that Breckinridge and Dumba were the only guests. Today the guest list revealed twelve names of persons well-known in official circles, bringing the price per plate down to $5 with $8 left over for a tip.

PHILIPP URGED TO ENTER RACE FOR DELEGATES Stalwarts at Burton Feast Would Challenge La Follette's Position as "Favorite Son"

SHIP ENCOUNTERED BUFFETING STORMS
 NEW YORK, Jan. 24.—Storms of unusual violence were encountered by the American liner New York, which arrived from Liverpool Saturday, two days overdue.
 The New York left Liverpool on January 12. Passing off the Irish coast, the water was so rough that she was unable to drop her pilot, who accompanied her to New York. None of the New York's 300 passengers slept through the night. The cabin passengers huddled in fright in the smoker.
 Seven of the New York's lifeboats were carried away.
 Lieutenant Governor Beetha of South Carolina, who quit the Ford peace party in Scandinavia, was one of the New York's Passengers.

MILWAUKEE, Jan. 24.—Governor Philipp may enter the presidential primary to contest for the Wisconsin delegation with Senator La Follette.
 This plan was advocated by stalwart leaders who came to Milwaukee to attend the banquet given former Senator Burton of Ohio. It was said that hereby it could be determined whether the senator, or the governor, is Wisconsin's "favorite son." Governor Philipp has not expressed himself upon throwing down this gauntlet.
 Interest also turned to the best available timber for the four delegates at large to the republican national convention. Governor Philipp, John M. Whitehead, Janesville; Judge Emil Baensch, Manitowoc; S. A. Cook, Neenah, and C. P. Ellingson of Hawkins figure in the choice of the four delegates at large.

RUSHFORD FOGGED

SLEIGHING GONE

Warm Spell Melts Snow and Several Are Hurt —by Falls Upon the Ice

RUSHFORD, Minn., Jan. 24.—(Special).—Just as farmers were preparing to enjoy a spell of good sleighing and everyone was busy hauling wood, grain and stock to market, the temperature began a rapid rise and on Thursday night there came a heavy rain upon the heels of a warm, sunshiny day. Friday morning pools of water stood where snowbanks had been and the swift change from runners to wheels has caused a great deal of dissatisfaction. Several severe falls on the part of Rushford residents make the more timid ones loth to venture upon the street where the rain has washed off the protecting layer of snow from the ice, making walking a hazardous undertaking. A fog which renders the near-by bluffs almost invisible adds to the dreariness.

Lists Bachelors
If there are any old bachelors in the vicinities in which the La Crosse Tribune circulates, now is the time for them to come forward and be listed in the Tri-County Record's very fetching "pre-inventory sale of bachelors," which that paper is now running. A few courageous "bachelor girls" have also entered the lists.

Torgerson Home Burns
After having enjoyed the comforts of their beautiful new home, a few miles from this city, for a short time, County Commissioner Torgerson and his family are confronted with the dreary prospect of a heap of ruins where the home once stood. The entire building was burned to the ground Monday afternoon of last week; either a defective chimney or a chimney fire being the cause—just as the flames spread so rapidly that investigation was impossible. Nothing was saved from the building but a few articles of clothing and some pieces of furniture. Mr. Torgerson was absent from home at the time. Neighbors did all in their power to save the residence, but a brisk wind soon made their efforts fruitless and the most they could do was to direct their efforts to saving the outbuildings, all of which were saved.

Four Die
Four more of our old and respected residents have been summoned to the Higher Court, Mrs. Aslak Dale passing away on Friday, Gilbert Aamold on Monday preceding, E. O. Laugen on Thursday morning and Thore Iverson on Thursday afternoon. Mr. Iverson had lately gone up to Lanesboro to spend the winter with his daughter, Mrs. P. Skaar and family, but succumbed to a stroke of paralysis sustained last week Wednesday.

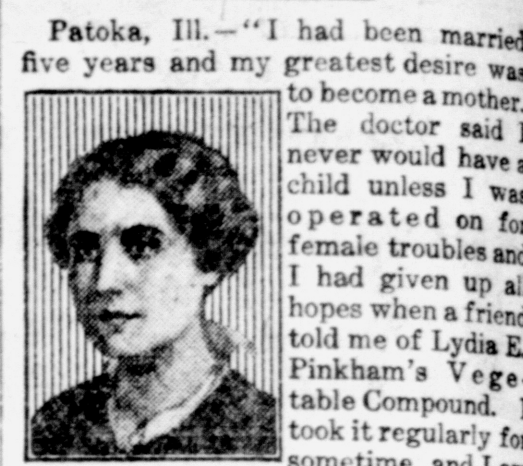

Mrs. Aslak Dale, who had been ill for some weeks with grip which developed into a light form of pneumonia, passed away from the effects of a stroke of apoplexy sustained on Friday. She was born in Telemarken, Norway in the year 1848 and came to this country with her parents, who settled in Fillmore county in 1860. Shortly after the close of the civil war she became the wife of Aslak Dale, who had served in the 17th Wisconsin volunteer infantry, Highland Prairie and Red Lake Falls, Minn., had both been the home of this couple, but they had for many years past lived in the little home south of this city, or in South Rushford. They had recently purchased the residence property of Mr. Olaf Olson and had intended to take possession about March 1. Funeral services were held on Monday afternoon from the Lutheran church of this city, Rev. Jaastad officiating.

Resident 47 Years
Gilbert Aamold, who had been a continuous resident of Rushford for a period of forty-seven years, passed away last Monday after an illness of several weeks. Born in Nanstad, Norway, in 1829, he had reached the age of 87 years at the time of his death. His life in Norway embraced seven years of military training and he was always greatly interested in things pertaining to military life. Miss Carrie Nelson of Nanstad, became his wife in 1859 and to them were born ten children, three of whom survive their father and mother; the latter's death occurred in May, 1915. Funeral services for Mr. Aamold were held Wednesday afternoon from the Rush-

DESPAIRING WOMAN

NOW HAPPY MOTHER

Mrs. Stephens Did Not Need The Surgical Operation.

Patoka, Ill.—"I had been married five years and my greatest desire was to become a mother. The doctor said I never would have a child unless I was operated on for female troubles and I had given up all hopes when a friend told me of Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound. I took it regularly for sometime, and I am in better health than ever, and have a healthy baby girl. I praise your Vegetable Compound for my baby and my better health. I want all suffering women to know that it is the sure road to health and happiness."—Mrs. GEORGE STEPHENS, R. F. D. No. 3, Patoka, Ill.

Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound is so successful in overcoming woman's ills because it contains the tonic, strengthening properties of good old fashioned roots and herbs, which act on the female organism. Women from all parts of the country are continually testifying to its strengthening, curative influence.

It has helped thousands of women who have been troubled with displacements, inflammation, ulceration, tumors, irregularities, periodic pains, backache, that bearing down feeling, indigestion, and nervous prostration.

ford Lutheran church, Rev. Jaastad conducting the rites.

Death is Sudden
Mr. E. O. Laugen's sudden death came as a great shock to Rushford, as he had hauled a load of wood into town just the day before and was apparently in his usual health. Heart disease was undoubtedly the cause of his passing away. He had passed his sixtieth year.

New Band Leader
Mr. Lester of Sioux City, Iowa, who has taken up the directorship of the band boys, has accepted a position at William Blanchfield's barber shop and is "making things hum" in the way of awakening interest in the boys and their work.

Ice sports are at their height in the northern states and in Canada. Horse racing on the frozen surface is growing in popularity. Meets open at St. Paul and Ottawa tomorrow.

PUT STOMACH IN

Says Indigestion Results from an Excess of Hydrochloric Acid.

Indigested food delayed in the stomach decays, or rather, ferments the same as food left in the open air, says a noted authority. He also tells us that indigestion is caused by Hyper-acidity, meaning, there is an excess of hydro-chloric acid in the stomach which prevents complete digestion and starts food fermentation. Thus everything eaten sours in the stomach much like garbage sours in a can, forming acid fluids and gases which inflate the stomach like a toy balloon. Then we feel a heavy, lumpy misery in the chest, we belch up gas, we eructate sour food or have heartburn, flatulence, water-brash or nausea.

He tells us to lay aside all digestive aids and instead, get from any pharmacy four ounces of Jad Salts and take a tablespoonful in a glass of water before breakfast and drink while it is effervescent and furthermore, to continue this for a week. While relief follows the first dose, it is important to neutralize the acidity, remove the gas-making mass, start the liver, stimulate the kidneys and thus promote a free flow of pure digestive juices.

Jad Salts is inexpensive and is made from the acid of grapes and lemon juice, combined with lithia and sodium phosphate. This harmless salts is used by thousands of people for stomach trouble with excellent results.

BOTH SIDES AWAIT SPRING OFFENSIVES

LONDON, Jan. 24.—Very little is doing on any of the fighting fronts, as both sides are marking time and preparing for big operations, which no doubt will take place in the spring.

These operations will take the form of a great offensive movement by the allies, if the Russians can complete the re-equipment of their armies in time. The coming offensive probably will mark the beginning of the end of this terrible war.

Every week sees an increase of the allies' superiority on the western front. A friend of mine who is just back from the front tells me that the British artillery now is firing two shells to every one fired by the German guns, and the greatest confidence prevails that when next an advance is undertaken the German lines must break. Until the troops of the czar are prepared to co-operate, however, it is obviously foolish to waste the strength which if applied simultaneously would have infinitely more effect.

Czar's New Armies Ready Russia's new armies now are fully ready and their equipment is steadily progressing, but no general move is to be made until sufficient reserves of ammunition have been collected to insure that the advance, once begun, can be pressed home.

BE PRETTY! TURN GRAY HAIR DARK

Try Grandmother's old Favorite Recipe of Sage Tea and Sulphur

Almost everyone knows that Sage Tea and Sulphur, properly compounded, brings back the natural color and lustre to the hair when faded, streaked or gray; also ends dandruff, itching scalp and stops falling hair. Years ago the only way to get this mixture was to make it at home, which is messy and troublesome. Nowadays, by asking at any drug store for "Wyeth's Sage and Sulphur Compound," you will get a large bottle of this famous old recipe for about 50 cents.

Don't stay gray! Try it! No one can possibly tell that you darkened your hair, as it does so naturally and evenly. You dampen a sponge or soft brush with it and draw this through your hair, taking one small strand at a time; by morning the gray hair disappears, and after another application or two, your hair becomes beautifully dark, thick and glossy.

SALEM FIRE CAUSE OF ONLY RETURN TO OLD CITY PLAN

for a minute gave up the idea of getting back to the old plan. In most cities the people have been so well satisfied that the interests that fought for the old order had to give up for lack of any following. They were more persistent in Salem. They kept a following by criticism of the commission, and before the new scheme had been going long enough to either make good or fail, along came a calamity that gave the opposition its chance. This was the great Salem fire of two years ago.

A conflagration that wiped out a huge chunk of the business and residence portion of a town is calculated to worry any set of city officials. Suppose you were mayor of a town of 50,000, and you should wake up some morning and find that half your town had burned up. What would you do? Don't you know. Nobody knows until something like that happens to him. The new Salem commission did its best. It cared for the homeless, fed the starving, cleaned up the debris with which the city was littered, and in other ways tried to turn chaos into order.

Took Vast Amount of Money
The commission did a pretty good job, but everything it did cost money. The municipality, as well as the merchants, manufacturers and home owners, had to bear an enormous expense. Pavings had to be relaid. Sewers had to be reconstructed. Great numbers of additional laborers had to be employed. The force of every city department had to be instantly expanded—and the money ran out. When the smoke had cleared away—literally and figuratively—the city commission sat down and faced the future. Thousands of things had to be done. Many things that had been done had not yet been paid for. Looking ahead only a year the commission realized it would have to have about one-third more money than it had spent in the preceding year.

For a reform administration that had ridden into office on a pledge of economy, this was unfortunate. One of the principal arguments when the reformers pleaded with the people to vote for commission government was that it would be cheaper than the old system. One of the principal criticisms of the commission by the old faction was that the new plan cost the city more. Retrenchment and reform had been promised, but now the commission could not retrench. With a malicious grin and a vengeful eye, the enemy was watching to see what would happen in this crisis in the life of the commission, ready at a minute's notice to take advantage of the slightest slip.

Up Went Taxes
The city commission could get the money it needed in only one way—by taxation. So it proceeded to tax. Nobody has yet invented any system of government that will put a smile on the face of a man when he walks into the city treasurer's office to pay his taxes. He just naturally hates it. Whether the taxes are little or big, the man rich or poor, makes no difference. Add to this universal truth the fact that in Salem the tax-payer's house, or his factory or his store had just been burned down over his head, and that the city was now demanding that he pay a larger tax on that identical property, and you get some faint conception of the feeling in Salem.

Salem had never seriously departed from the Biblical sentiment pertaining to its name. Those old Puritans who founded it got it out of the second verse of the seventeenth Psalm. "In Salem also is His tabernacle and His dwelling place in Zion." Salem was one of the two cities that afterwards became Jerusalem, the other being Jebus, and it means "city of peace." For the few months following the action of the commission in raising taxes, the modern Salem was about as peaceful as a prize fight. The "I-told-yous" were out in force and the most popular pastime was damming the commission.

INSANE ASYLUMS ONLY PLACE FOR MASHERS HE SAYS

NEW YORK, Jan. 24.—"Mashers, orders of women and so-called flirts must be slightly unbalanced mentally and fit subjects for the insane asylum," declared Magistrate John C. McGuire of Brooklyn today, discussing the number of such cases that are brought before him. "These mashers receive no mercy from me after they have annoyed women and young girls. Any man who tries to make love to a strange woman as she passes him in the street certainly is wrong in the head. I send lots of these fellows to the Kings County hospital for mental observation and you bet I'll see to it that all of them found guilty in my court will continue to be sent there. The public thoroughfares absolutely must be safeguarded for women and little girls."

THE SILO

SILOS INCREASE IN NUMBER IN THE BADGER STATE

MADISON, Wis., Jan. 24.—According to figures compiled by A. W. Kalbus, statistician of the Wisconsin Department of Agriculture, there were 55,992 silos in Wisconsin on January 1, 1916, against 47,165 on January 1, 1915, an increase of 19 per cent.

The contents of the silos, figuring the average size fourteen by twenty-eight, was 4,647,336 tons.

Using the average value as $3 per ton, the total value of the contents of the 55,992 silos was $13,942,008.00.

Sheboygan county takes first place in the number of silos with 2,772, against 2,625 in 1915. Manitowoc county is a close second with 2,712, against 2,642 in 1915, and Waukesha county comes third with 2,662, and 2,630 in 1915.

The following table shows counties leading in the number of silos:

County	Jan. 1, '16	Jan. 1, '15
Sheboygan	2,772	2,625
Manitowoc	2,712	2,642
Waukesha	2,662	2,630
Valparaiso	1,996	1,783
Fond du Lac	1,877	1,645
Dane	1,233	1,138
Winnebago	1,233	1,138

North central and northern counties are showing gains in silo building. Barron has 765, against 613 a year ago; Marathon 526, against 347 a year ago, and Marinette 389, against 281 one year ago.

Even thinly settled counties are showing gains. Florence has twenty-seven, against twenty-five one year ago; Vilas, fourteen, against five a year ago; Forest, twelve, against five a year ago, in Iron, eleven, against nine one year ago.

Figures presented by Mr. Kalbus were carefully gathered and accurately compiled.

FACTORY PROBLEM OF TUBERCULOSIS IS SAFETY TOPIC

Round Table Will Have Milwaukee Expert Here Thursday to Address Public Meeting

Tuberculosis as a factor in the problem of factory betterment will be discussed by B. Rosing, superintendent of the welfare department of the A. O. Smith company of Milwaukee, at the next meeting of the La Crosse Safety Round Table, which will be held Thursday evening at 8 o'clock in the city hall. Mr. Rosing was secured for the meeting through the Wisconsin Anti-Tuberculosis association.

Preparations are under way for handling an attendance larger than usual at the Thursday meeting, as manufacturers, workers and the public in general, it is believed, will be interested in Mr. Rosing's talk. The round table has invited the city health commission and all the physicians in the community to attend and take part in a general discussion of the tuberculosis problem, at the conclusion of Mr. Rosing's address.

SPOTLIGHTS

Despite minor injuries to members of the company in a wreck near Sioux Falls, S. D., last Monday, the DeKoven Opera company will present "Robin Hood," the noted comic opera, at the La Crosse theater tomorrow night. With the exception of Phil Branson, who plays the sheriff, none of the company was more than bruised in the smashup. Branson has been carrying his arm in a sling since the accident, but has sung his role every night. The company was going from Cherokee to Sioux Falls when a derailment occurred, two baggage cars and two day-coaches going into the ditch. Fifteen people were hurt, but members of the De Koven company suffered only contusions.

It also is to be noticed that since Mr. Ford returned from Europe he is having very little to say about hastening peace or "getting the boys out of the trenches."

BUNYAN'S BOOK RENDERED IN FILM

Pilgrim's Progress to Be at Normal School with Famous Salvini as Christian Pilgrim's Progress, the book written by John Bunyan 257 years ago during his imprisonment at Bedford, England, has been done into a feature film by the Ambrosia company of Torino, Italy, at an expense of $65,000. The part of Christian is acted by Alexander Salvini, the great Italian favorite. The first reel of this masterpiece of moving pictures is a prologue and outlines the leading incidents in the life of Bunyan, including his debauchery in early years, his conversion and call to preach; his persecutions and final imprisonment. Three reels are devoted to the pilgrimage of Christian and his wife, showing their vicissitudes in the journey from sin, symbolized by the City of Destruction, to peace, the City of Everlasting Life.

This great production requires an hour and a half in presentation. It comes to La Crosse Thursday evening, January 27th at the State Normal auditorium.

As presented here, this will be far more than a moving picture. Three people accompany the film. Colonel Frederick Ray of London, England, gives a graphic lecture, on the scenes as they unfold one after another, Francis Ray presides at the piano and gives a carefully prepared arrangement of incidental music, synchronized with both picture and lecture.

Over a million people have seen this religious movie in the past three years. It is never shown in picture theaters, but always under religious or educational auspices.

It looks like soft picking for Fulton in his bout with Porky Flynn at New Orleans on Friday night. Flynn is considered a rank second-rater in his home town, Boston, and will be no test for Fulton's try-out.

KID M'COY THE "MASKED MARVEL"

NEW YORK, Jan. 24.—Kid Mc-Coy, otherwise Norman Selby of Kokomo, Ind., sailed for Havana early today in a suite de luxe on the money he received for appearing here as the "Masked Marvel" of the boxing mail, according to the Evening Mail.

A masked fighter appeared at the Harlem Sporting club a few nights ago and offered to meet all comers.
No one accepted but the "Burnum" stuff brought much money to the box office. The Mail story today is that McCoy appeared wearing a mask as the result of a $500 bet by a broker that he could put a nationally known fighter in the ring, masked, and the fighter would not be recognized. The broker won his bet and is said to have collected the $500 and to have given it to Kid McCoy.

NEW YEAR'S FIGHT SENDS THE LAW ON RUDY'S TRAIL

Battling Rudy, who is matched to fight Hal Clark of Milwaukee in the semi-windup to the Welling-White fight here February 3, is having a hard time eluding Bureau county, Illinois, authorities, according to advices from the Battler. Rudy on New Year's fought at Ladd in violation of the Illinois law against boxing matches and now Sheriff Skoglund of Bureau county is hot on his trail.

White has been assured that Welling will not weigh in excess of 137 pounds at 3 o'clock on the day of the fight, according to Matchmaker Kannia today, who says he has promised an additional forfeit from his own pocket of fifty dollars should Welling fail to make the exact weight.

TONEY MUST PITCH FOR $4,000 SAYS GARRY HERMANN

CINCINNATI, O., Jan. 24.—"Fred Toney will pitch for the Reds this year for a $4,000 salary, or not pitch at all."

This was the statement today of President Herrmann of the Reds, answering Toney's demand for a $6,- 000 salary or his unconditional release.

He was paid $3,200 for 1915.
Herrmann has returned Toney's contract to the pitcher at Nashville, telling him he expected to sign and that $4,000 was going to be considered a good salary in base ball in the future.

Last year Toney ranked next to Grover Alexander in pitching effec-

LOCAL PASTORS GO TO MADISON MEET

Proposal for Religious Buildings on Campus to Occupy Time of the State Federation

Rev. D. C. Jones and Rev. E. C. Dixon, respective pastors of the First Methodist and First Presbyterian churches of this city, left at noon today for Madison, where they will take part in a meeting of the Wisconsin Federation of Churches, called for the purpose of taking steps to promote religious welfare of university students.

While reviews of religious work in the university and comparisons and suggestions will center about what may become a spirited discussion of a religious building for the university.

It is said that an understanding existed to the effect that the various churches would work in unity, co-ordinating and avoiding every kind of over-lapping calculated to duplicate expenses. The Methodist church proposes to erect a Methodist religious building. The other churches insist that such a building should not be denominational, but should be built and used by all. The subject will be thrashed out and perhaps settled in the meetings, which terminate tomorrow.

LONG FALL MAY BE FATAL

CHICAGO, Jan. 24.—Miss Minnie E. Werner, 23, a stenographer, fell sixteen stories from a window in the rest room of the Transportation building, in the heart of the Loop today.

LOVE THIEF GETS WATCHES

ITALIANS FEAR GERMAN HAND IN VATICAN AFFAIR

Italian King Under Law of Protection of the Pope

BY ALICE ROHE

(United Press Staff Correspondent.)
ROME, Jan. 24.—(By mail.)—Italian diplomats believe Germany is trying to make internal trouble for Italy through the Vatican. The Vatican is the seat of government of the Catholic church, much as the District of Columbia is the seat of government of the United States. The Vatican's, however, is classed as exclusively a seat of spiritual government, and is supposed to have nothing to do with the temporal government of Italy or any other country.

Prior to 1870 the Catholic church governed both spiritually and temporally in many places. When the temporal power of the church was taken away in 1871, Italy established the Law of Guarantee whereby the Vatican is guaranteed absolute protection by Italy, from interference from any source with its affairs as a spiritual governing agency. So long as Italy alone guarantees protection to the Vatican, Italy retains absolute control of all her territory. However, should other nations step in and say that inasmuch as the Catholic church has ramifications throughout the world, they feel that all the nations should jointly guarantee protection to the Vatican, Italy then would be in a peculiar position.

Fears German Meddling

It is the fear that Germany is trying to engineer such an internationalizing of the Law of Guarantee, that is worrying Italian diplomats at present. As Italy views it, the danger of internationalizing the Vatican's guarantee of protection lies in this hypothetical case: Suppose the Vatican should attempt to interfere with temporal government in Italy and Italy fought the attempt as it fought the temporal power of the church prior to 1870. Suppose also that there were an international law of guarantee. Then suppose Germany was interested in making all the trouble for Italy that it possibly could. All Germany would have to do would be to step in and say to Italy: "Here! We guarantee non-interference with the Vatican and we want you to let the Vatican alone." Any other nation, which might be a party to the guarantee and which had a grudge against Italy could do the same thing. But so long as Italy alone guarantees non-interference with the Vatican, it controls the situation. This question had lain dormant for many years until the present war aroused it. The first public recognition Italy made that the question was again stirred up was the recent speech by Minister Orlando at Palermo, in which he reiterated and emphasized the fact that Italy and Italy alone will protect the Vatican. Many Americans wrongly interpreted that speech as indicating that Italy would countenance the re-establishing of the temporal power of the church in Italy.

Bismarck Fought
It really was meant to emphasize the fact that Italy would not countenance the internationalization of the law of guarantee. From 1873 to 1879 Bismarck fought the law, claiming that Italy thereby had made the Pope unattackable. The Italian government did not heed Bismarck's words and acts on this score, so Bismarck sought favor with the Vatican. Not so very long after that his plan to engineer the Triple Alliance came to light. Italy was not much in favor of it. Bismarck again stirred up the internationalization of the law of guarantee, demanding that it may be a world affair, not an Italian affair. Such a powerful fight did Bismarck wage on this score that Italy finally agreed to the Triple Alliance on condition that the law of guarantee agitation be dropped. The revival of the temporal power of the church is not considered at all likely in Italy, either in the Vatican or elsewhere, but Germany, say Italians who watch the situation closely, seeing the enthusiasm, patriotism and loyalty of complaints at the Italian front and the manner in which various branches of the church have contributed to the government for the war, is uneasy and wants to revive the plan to internationalize the law of guarantee.

Would Avoid Trouble

Italy considers that such action would cause untold international complications and diplomatic meddling in Italian affairs and Italy wants the question left altogether to herself. Said one man high in Italian diplomatic circles: "Of course Germany wants to stir up trouble here in Italy and her mind is centered on the Roman question. The semi-official press of Germany has been working tirelessly, wielding Germany's old threat against Italy again."

THEY CAN'T FOOL HIM

SANTA ROSA, Cal., Jan. 24.—Luther Burbank, the wizard of things that grow, realizes that he is so "easy" for anyone who wants his money for this, that and the other, and plenty of persons do, that he employed pretty little Miss Bessie Waters to scrutinize every proposition offered him, to decide whether it is legitimate. Miss Waters attends all Burbank's interviews and is asked to give her advice quite frequently.

"ECONOMY PAYS" BIGGER SALARIES THAN EVER BEFORE

Under-officers of State Departments Put Into Jobs at More Than Governor's Income MADISON, Wis., Jan. 24.—That in spite of the promises of a business administration, Governor Philipp has permitted salaries to be paid in some offices all out of proportion to the customary salaries paid, is the discovery recently made here by investigators of the records at the office of the secretary of state.

Because the railroad, tax and industrial commissioners were to perform high and technical service, requiring men of ability to perform the tasks it was decided some years ago to pay these officials a salary of $5,000. It was also decided that the state officers—governor, secretary of state, state treasurer and attorney general should receive $5,000 each annually.

Now comes the Philipp administration and pays the head engineer of the newly created engineering department a salary of $6,000 a year. Not only that but the state board of education, created by the last legislature, has just retained a statistician—remember, a statistician—at the munificent salary of $6,000 a year. Here are salaries greater than paid to the elective state officers or to the head of the important state commissions of government.

Recently the two members of the railroad commission appointed by Governor Philipp decided to oust the then secretary, L. E. Gettle, from office. Gettle had been with the commission for sometime, starting with a salary of $2,500 annually. After two years of experience Gettle's salary was increased to $3,000. The new railroad commission starts the new secretary out with the $3,000 salary. This large salary to begin with was against all precedents established in other commissions during the previous progressive administrations. M. J. Tappins, secretary of the state board of control was started out at a salary of $2,000. A. J. Myrland, secretary of the state tax commission, was started out at a salary of $2,000. P. J. Watrous, secretary of the state industrial commission, was started out at a salary of $2,000. John M. Winterbotham, for many years deputy railroad commissioner before the railroad commission law was enacted, was given a salary of $2,500 when he became secretary and never received any more. The new secretary of the Wisconsin railroad commission appointed early in January starts with a salary of $3,000. And this in an administration of economy.
